2016 and the European Council Conclusions of 20 – 21 October 2016, they underlined that immediate assistance to the most affected states is essential and confirmed their commitments to continuing support for the countries of the Western Balkans and relevant EU Member States. An unprecedented and uncontrolled migratory flow along the Eastern Mediterranean-Western Balkans route, which Europe has faced over the last two years, must not be repeated in the future.

Information sharing as a crucial part of the counter-terrorism policy

The Ministers reiterated the importance of an effective counter-terrorism policy. They stressed that to ensure an effective response to terrorism and current security threats it is essential to share relevant information at the right time and to support all relevant actors to do so, including through the implementation of the smart borders package in all Member States. The Ministers consider the structure of the existing information exchange in this area as a good basis for cooperation. However, they emphasized the need to improve the process and quality of feeding the databases and to maintain or establish, where necessary by common legal framework, the access of law enforcement authorities to new data, in particular in connection with crossing the external border.

Enhanced cooperation in the cross border search for missing children

The Ministers agreed that cases of missing children are of a sensitive nature and urgent. The quick and effective cross-border information exchange between national law enforcement authorities and other expert bodies is therefore crucial. The Ministers welcomed initiatives to make the protection of missing children a priority and stressed the importance of closer cooperation with the EU agencies, law enforcement authorities and other expert bodies. Hence, they welcomed the expert meeting on this issue planned for the first half of 2017 in the Czech Republic.

Reduction of methamphetamine production by regulating availability of drug precursors

The Ministers agreed that a reduction of methamphetamine production by regulating availability of drug precursors is needed and that monitoring of illicit trafficking and domestic trade with red phosphorus and other chemicals which may be abused for drug production is also important. The Salzburg Forum Member States will support measures regulating the sale of medicines containing pseudoephedrine and the trade with red phosphorus at the EU level.

Upcoming Hungarian Salzburg Forum Presidency

The Ministers welcomed the information on the programme and priorities of the upcoming Hungarian Presidency of the Salzburg Forum and expressed their commitment to continue the close cooperation.
